Dear Jimmie
I wonder if how you know
"I feel in saying perhaps - your life" to a genius of rare personality and talent that I know! You will surely arise & shine brightly in the career which your talent of yours - you have such charm of personality & lovable characteristics that you will endear yourself
to the hearts of your public & you have to know.
"I mean every word of it." always

SENIOR MEMORIES

Travel where we may
The sun will start the day . . .
Always in the same way.

Goodbye, Technical

We board our ship of fate
With joyful heart and eye
To Technical, this day
We bid a fond goodbye!

In school, our little world
Has been so safe and small
In future, will we walk
With eager stride; or fall?

Will we travel to success
To contentment find the key?
We cannot know, nor guess,
We can only work; then see.

We'll leave this sheltered port
To seek our destinies
But future years will bring it back
In cherished memories.

IN THE LIMELIGHT WITH SPRING SPORTS

THE spring term brought three branches of athletics into the limelight, basketball, track, and baseball, which furnished a full and fairly successful season of sports to the fans.

Basketball season ended with a tie for fourth place in the final standings. Tech won two out of seven attempts in its bid for the crown. There was unusually stiff competition for the Bulldogs, as Fremont had the same team back that tied for first honors last year, and as was expected, took the championship for this term. All the other schools had especially strong teams which made a good race out of it. The dominating play of Jay Isola, all-city guard, was featured throughout the season, and he was a consistent point-getter for Tech.

Trying a new idea in high school basketball, an East-West game was held at the Civic Auditorium. The West, of which Tech was a part, won a surprise victory with the score 38 to 35. The West was rated second, because of the high standing of all the teams of the East side in the O. A. L.

With several lettermen returning, the Tech cindermen turned in a fairly successful practice season, winning six out of ten meets. In the annual O. A. L. competition at Edwards Field in Berkeley, the Bulldog team placed fourth, finishing behind McClymonds, Oakland, and University in that order.

Churchill Lewis, outstanding 880-yard man, set a new record at this meet with a time of 2:01:8 to add another achievement to Tech's long list.

The final treat on the sports program was baseball. Starting what looked to be a championship season, the Tech Nine ran along nicely until mid-season when, through scholastic difficulties and a little hard luck or a let-down, they lost to McClymonds. Then they were upset by two teams which were rated under them, all of which pulled them down into another fourth place in the final reckoning. Tech won four and lost three of the games on its schedule.

Now lettermen who are not seniors, let us worry about the football season next term. You have a good chance for a championship team, with that great little half-back, Julius Squarzino, and the other lettermen returning to build a team around. So, turn out and give the team the support that is necessary to add another O. A. L. peg to the War Club. Good Luck!

R. O. T. C. LINEUP

The First Battalion, Technical R. O. T. C., climaxed a year's training, under the excellent supervision of Sergeant A. G. Okey, A. P. M. S. and T., by taking first place in the Oakland regiment in the annual inspection by the Federal government.

Commanded by Cadet Lieutenant Colonel James Martin, the battalion staff is as follows: Cadets—Captain Richard Greyson, Drum Major; Captain Daniel Bonsack, Adjutant; Captain Russell Hill, Personnel Adjutant; First Lieutenant Donald Lehman, Ordinance Officer; First Lieutenant Leslie Blake, Plans and Training Officer; and First Lieutenant William Howard Sawyer, Engineer.

A Company is commanded by Cadet Captain Norman Herkenham, assisted by Cadets—First Lieutenant Raymond Behneman and Second Lieutenant Norman Palmer.

B Company is commanded by Cadet Captain Harold Russell, assisted by Cadets—First Lieutenant James Rogers and First Lieutenant Alwyn Williams.

C Company is commanded by Cadet Captain Bruce Nelson, assisted by Cadets—First Lieutenant Gordon Vickery and Second Lieutenant Fred Black.

D Company is commanded by Cadet Captain Clifford Ommert, assisted by Cadets—Second Lieutenant Vernon Prentiss, and Second Lieutenant, Winfield Williams.

FLASHING INTO GIRLS' ATHLETICS

GIRLS' sports were carried on this term in a similar manner to that of the spring term of 1933.

The first two weeks of school found the girls signing up for crew, eager to get out on the lake and begin practice. The practice began soon enough. A visit to the lake on Wednesday or Thursday afternoon found the girls hard at it—backs straining, oars flashing in the wintry sun and the steady directions of the coxswain sounding across the lake.

And then the regatta! Aching muscles were forgotten in joyful anticipation of the race. The boats were lined up at the starting point, each girl tense at her oar. The gun was fired and they were off. The girls were not taking it too seriously. It was a fun race and every boat finished in the direction of the boathouse where a wienie-roast awaited them. The crew season was over.

The baseball season started off with an equal amount of enthusiasm. Captains were elected, teams were chosen and baseball was well on its way. The same amount of enthusiasm was shown in the few games that were played. On these afternoons could be heard the crack of the bat as it met the ball and the encouraging cries of the players to one another.

And then the final week of play for the championship—the tennis tournament. The girls were the most enthusiastic. A A B and C won the awards. The girls were not taking it too seriously. There was a lot of fun in the sport-minded girls.
